Item 7.01. Regulation FD Disclosure.

Energy Transfer Equity, L.P. (NYSE: ETE) and Energy Transfer Partners, L.P. (NYSE: ETP) today announced that the partnerships have begun active discussions regarding an exchange transaction in which Trunkline LNG Company, LLC (“Trunkline LNG”), the entity that owns the existing LNG regasification facility at Lake Charles, Louisiana, would be transferred to ETE in exchange for the redemption of a portion of the ETP common units currently held by ETE. Trunkline LNG has two long-term contracts with BG Group plc that provide for fixed-fee payments for regasification capacity, regardless of actual utilization. Trunkline LNG is currently wholly owned by Southern Union Company, which in turn is a 100% owned subsidiary of ETP. The transaction, if consummated, is expected to be accretive to distributable cash flow per unit and credit neutral to both ETP and ETE. The transaction will be subject to approvals by the conflicts committees of the Board of Directors of each of ETP and ETE, and there can be no assurance that any agreement will be reached or, if any agreement is reached, that the transaction will be consummated.

ETE anticipates that the Lake Charles Liquefaction project, currently being developed by ETE and ETP on a 60/40 ownership basis on the same site as the existing regasification facility, would be contributed to Trunkline LNG at the closing of the project construction and related financing arrangements, which are anticipated in mid-2015. Further details of this transaction and the Lake Charles Liquefaction project are expected to be discussed by members of management at the upcoming Energy Transfer Analyst Day on November 20, 2013, in Dallas, Texas.
